

February 8 Marks 251st Charter Day

Dr. Rogers Gives Cutler Address

Commemorating the two hundred fifty-first anniversary of the granting of the Charter to the College in 1693, a formal convocation was held February 8, in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. The Sixteenth Annual James Gould Cutler Address, delivered by Dr. Lindsay Rogers, dealt with "Constitutional Aspects of American Foreign Policy."

Dr. Rogers thought his subject particularly appropriate because William and Mary has such a close connection with American history. He expressed the hope that the trend of thought in government would be directed less toward the legality of the Constitution, and more toward the spirit which created the Constitution. Dr. Rogers has been a member of the faculties of the Universities of Virginia and Harvard, a lecturer at the University of California and Johns Hopkins, and has written numerous books and articles.

Preceding Dr. Rogers' talk, Dean James W. Miller read from the Charter and Chancellor John Stewart Bryan read the Royal Proclamation of 1700. President Pomfret introduced Chancellor Bryan, former President of the College, to the student body and the Freshman Class in particular. Dr. Bryan is the fourth American Chancellor to serve the College, and his predecessors were George Washington, President John Tyler, and Hugh B. Grigsby. Dr. Bryan said that the students, especially freshmen, should work to fulfill their duties to the world after peace is established and victory won.

The academic procession consisted of members of the Faculty and the Class of 1944. Seated on the platform beside President Pomfret were Chancellor John Stewart Bryan, Dr. Lindsay Rogers, of Columbia University, Reverend Lewis Havermale, and the representatives of the six professorships of 1729: Dr. James W. Miller, Dr. A. P. Wagener, Dr. J. M. Stetson, Dr. Dudley W. Woodbridge, Dr. Robert G. Robb and Dr. Pierre Macy.

The College Chapel Choir sang Psalm 148, assisted by members of the Chaplains' Choir, as a special number, and the "William and Mary Hymn" for the procession and recessional.

Moliere Comedy Under Production

Hayne Cast As Tartuffe,
Presented March 2 and 3

Miss Althea Hunt, director, has announced that the next production of the William and Mary Theatre will be Moliere's "Tartuffe". The play will be presented on Thursday and Friday, March 2 and 3, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

This comedy, also titled "The Impostor", is perhaps the best play that the great French dramatist wrote, although it was barred from public presentation in Paris for five years after its first performance.

The show will be produced as a period play, and the crews, under the direction of Mr. John Boyt, will make brilliant and elaborate costumes.

Readings of the play were held before examination period, and after three tryout sessions, the cast was announced on February 2. Both the cast and the crews are now hard at work on the production.

The cast includes the following people: Bob Hayne as Tartuffe; Jeanne Mencke as Elmire, wife of Orgon; Ronald King as Damis, son of Orgon; (Continued on Page 4)

Dr. Van Kirk Guest Speaker For Religious Emphasis Week

1944 Lecture Period Opens

Series Provides Variety of Topics

Dr. Walter Van Kirk will open the second semester series of lectures arranged by the faculty committee on Lectures, Art, and Music. Sponsored by the Friends of the College of William and Mary, these lectures are intended to stimulate the aesthetic and general cultural interests of the students.

On the night of February 21, Count Byron De Prook, explorer and archaeologist of international reputation, will deliver his lecture on "The African Drama," illustrated with motion pictures. He will describe his explorations and experiences from 1936 to 1940 in those very regions of Africa where the struggle between the forces of Germany and those of the Allied Nations has been taking place. He will also tell of his personal acquaintance with outstanding political and military leaders such as DeGaulle, Wavell, Darian, Badoglio, and numerous others.

Dr. Charles H. Tozier, an authority on Central and South America, will present certain aspects of the old Mayan culture in an illustrated archaeological lecture Wednesday night, February 23.

"Wonders of the Southern Wilderness," a lecture illustrated with motion pictures in natural color, will be given by Alexander Sprunt, Jr., Southern Representative of the National Audubon Society, March 6.

Two lectures of a political character will follow when Mr. V. D. Kazakevich, specialist in the field of Russian economics and history, speaks on Russia and Professor Oscar Jaszi (formerly a public official in the Hungarian government and in recent years Professor of Political Science in Oberlin College) speaks on "The Nationality Problem in Europe." They will (Continued on Page 4)

'First Nighter' Held Feb. 11

Another Jeep Drive Launched By WAMs

By HARRIET IRVIN

Faculty and students are cordially invited to attend the debut of that well-known and worthy character—WINNIE WAM. Yes, this open house in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Hall is in honor of Winnie Wam. Date: February 11. Time: 6:45 P. M. to 10:00 P. M.

This is a mighty important night for Winnie—a "First Nighter", because for the first time her public will be able to see how deserving of admiration are her energies and talents. There will be several short movies, and out of the five films, one will surely be on your Must See list. And, what would a "First Nighter" be without refreshments! The USO Snack Bar is the answer; and Winnie Wam will be there to serve.

Rumor has it that Valentine's Day is on its way. Winnie Wam has foreseen the situation and will be on hand with attractive corsages made by Mortar Board just for the occasion.

Winnie Wam hasn't forgotten that the 4th War Loan Drive is on. For weeks Winnie has been planning to launch a new Jeep Drive. The success of raising over $2,000 last June, has encouraged her to bigger and better drives. Starting February 11, Winnie and her corps will go all out to buy another Jeep for Uncle Sam.

Attempting to better last year's record of $2,000 raised in ten days, this year's Winnie plans to raise enough to purchase a Jeep after a drive of only one week. As a part of this Jeep drive, the Y.W.C.A. will have a paper Jeep set up in the Wigwam. Every student will find his name on it, exposed to the public eye. By purchasing War Stamps, the student may have his name covered up. Eventually, the Jeep will, therefore, be paid for.

There will be more to this open house than just this. Things are going to happen. Come over and see for yourself.

First Lecture February 14

Religious Emphasis Convocation will be held Monday, February 14, at 10 o'clock, to introduce Dr. Walter Van Kirk, the guest lecturer for Religious Emphasis Week, who will speak on "Six Pillars of Peace." Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, February 15 and 16, he will deliver two formal addresses entitled "A Global Faith for a Global Peace" and "What Can Christians Do Now for a Just and Durable Peace?" These talks will be given at eight o'clock in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Dr. Walter Van Kirk has been for the past sixteen years Secretary of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. He is a graduate of Boston University and Ohio Wesleyan University, where he received his Doctor of Divinity degree.

Dr. Van Kirk has acted for three years as the Director of the National Peace Conference to coordinate the efforts of some forty national organizations in the field of international relations. He has travelled extensively in this country and abroad, studying the religious conditions.

For the past eight years Dr. Van Kirk has conducted a weekly radio program entitled Religion in the News. He is the National Broadcasting Company's special commentator on events of religious significance, and, in this capacity, has broadcast from Europe to the United States. He is the author of four books: Youth and Christian Unity, Highways to International Goodwill, Religion Denounces War, and Religion and the World of Tomorrow.

Informal discussions will be held on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons at four o'clock in the Dodge room of Phi Beta Kappa. These discussions will be led by the students, and refreshments will be served. Members of the faculty, local clergy, students, and any others who might be interested have been invited to attend all the activities of the week.

Dr. K. J. Hoke, Educator, Dies

Dr. Kremer J. Hoke, Dean of the Summer Session, Head of the Department of Education, and nationally known educator, died of a heart attack in a Richmond hospital Sunday morning. Burial services were held at 2 o'clock, Tuesday, February 8, at Bruton Parish Church.

An outstanding figure in the field of education in Virginia and throughout the South, Dr. Hoke came to William and Mary in 1920 as Dean of the Faculty under the administration of the late Dr. Chandler, retaining this position until 1938. At this time he became Dean of the Summer Session and Chairman of the Committee on Degrees, along with the position as Dean of the Department of Education. (Continued on Page 6)

New Commanding Officer Of ASTP Is Former College Polo Champion

By CONNIE CONWAY

Commanding officer of the 3321st Student Unit of the Army Specialized Training Program stationed here at the College, Major Carl August Schaubel—Jim to his friends—arrived on the campus the thirteenth of last month. Tall, with blue eyes and dark hair, Major Schaubel was born in Philadelphia in 1908. After graduating from Northeast High School there, he attended Pennsylvania Military College, and in 1930 graduated and received his commission. He remained at the College as adjutant and instructor, and also held the position of polo coach. As captain, in his student days, of the only undefeated polo team there, Major Schaubel was well qualified to serve in that capacity. He coached and guided the team, and finally led them to the United States College Polo Championship, against such teams as West Point and Harvard.

In 1938 Major Schaubel left the Army and went into the printing business in Philadelphia, but before Pearl Harbor, in 1940, he went back into active service. He wears the Army Defense Medal, awarded to all those who were in the service prior to our entrance into the war.

Major Schaubel is most active as far as sports are concerned, in baseball and polo, and his most consuming interests are his home outside of Philadelphia and his eleven-year-old son.

What has impressed Major Schaubel about William and Mary, aside from the beauty and tradition of the place, is the warm and friendly reception accorded him on his arrival by faculty and students alike.

In regard to better and closer relations between the Army and civilian students, Major Schaubel thinks that all groups on campus should be represented in most of the College functions. He carried out this idea in the recent A.S.T.U. graduation, when the Navy choir from the Chaplains' School sang, and a civilian student carried the College Mace. Although the necessarily heavy schedule followed by the A.S.T.U. prevents much opportunity for the Army and civilian students to get together, Major Schaubel hopes that something may be done in the near future to bring the two groups closer together.

New Dorm Plan Brought Before Men On Feb. 10

By BILL ANDERSON

Seeing the opportunities that are provided, through student control of dormitories, for the development of students' leadership qualities and for teaching individuals how to live together, the Dean of Men and the Administration drew up a plan which will be presented to men students on Thursday, February 10, at 4:15 P. M. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

When interviewed, Dr. Armacost expressed his surprise that such a plan had not been put into effect long before now, as the College of William and Mary has long been noted for its advances in the field of Student Government.

The plan as presented calls for an Inter-Dormitory Council made up of the Chairman of each Dormitory Committee, which would meet regularly and should have the power to make rules and regulations for dormitories. The Inter-Dormitory Council should also have the authority to act as a judiciary committee in matters pertaining to conduct of men students in the dorms and in an advisory capacity for improvements and suggestions that might be helpful in creating a better dormitory atmosphere.

The plan further states that the Inter-Dormitory Council shall be assisted by a Dormitory Committee or by Dormitory Committees in each house. The size of each committee shall be based on the number of students living in the dormitory; the chairman shall be the member of the committee receiving the highest number of votes and the secretary, the second highest number. The election of this committee shall be conducted by the Men's Honor Council and shall be from nominations made by the sections of the dorms which they represent. Their function shall be, "That of suggesting regulations and policies to the Inter-Dormitory Council, making specific house rules beyond those made by the Administration or Inter-Dormitory Council if so desired, to plan and supervise dormitory parties, to assist in the orientation of freshmen, and to check disturbances in the dormitory and refer to the Inter-Dormitory Council members who are unwilling to cooperate."

They shall have brief and informal meetings at regular intervals which will be concerned with reports of incidents and suggested followups, and their meetings shall be recorded in the form of brief and informal minutes.

Dr. Armacost further states that in the larger dorms there shall be several dormitory committees with a house president to be elected by the combined committees in a two-thirds majority vote. Acting primarily in an advisory capacity to the house president and the dormitory committee will be a Faculty Counselor whose main duties will be dealing with the individual's academic, vocational, or personal problems.

Another feature presented in the new set-up will be a dormitory business manager, designated by the Dean of Men, whose responsibility will be the handling of communications to students, reporting damage to property, registering of guests, and any other duties suggested by the Dean in relationship to the management of the dormitory. In consideration for these duties he shall receive compensation equivalent to room rent.

With these as the main points making up a general plan for student government of dormitories, the administration hopes to provide a system which will be helpful and beneficial to students. Although original in some aspects, this is primarily a cumulative plan which has been successfully used by several other schools and is being instituted here to cope with current situations.

Men students will have an opportunity to discuss the features of this plan, to amend or modify the proposals, and to assist in the formulation of a final program of dormitory control which will be acceptable to the men residing on campus.

Since this is to be a venture in student government, the administration welcomes student expressions concerning the plan in order that the final plan will be satisfactory. The administration does not desire to impose a ready-made scheme for dormitory control on students, but wishes to have the plan represent student opinions and ideas.

Colonial Echo Size Reduced New Book Edited By All-Girl Staff

This year's Colonial Echo may be smaller, according to the editor, Dede Armor, because of wartime conditions; but it will still be a good, interesting record of this school year. Going on the premise that quality is better than quantity, the members of its all-girl staff—the first in its history—are working cooperatively in their attempt to produce an excellent job.

No publication date has been set as yet, but the deadline for all manuscript material to be in has been announced as February 29.

It is expected that the book will be about two-thirds the size of last year's annual. This is partially accounted for by the fact that last year the Men's Athletic Section covered sixty pages and sixteen more pages were devoted to Men's Fraternities. This year men's sports are greatly curtailed and fraternities are completely eliminated.

The Student Activities Committee, after some discussion, has decided that there will be no advertisements; instead there are to be patrons. Lack of advertising also contributes toward making the yearbook smaller.

Plans for the Echo are indefinite be-

Me and My Bunx

MONDAY — While studying the Bunx and I, quite without reason, felt we owed ourself a bit of free scope, free stage and no subjection. At recuperative rate, we executed a coup de grace on the ceiling above each of our respective beds. There, written unrestrained in the dust, are the names of our very volatile gentlemen friends. Perhaps it would seem a bit more commendable to have only one name, but we felt we were being fairly fair by writing according to distance. Those in this country have a mere half-inch of space, while the South Pacific boasts half the ceiling.

TUESDAY — Having felt paltry long enough, the Happy Bunk decided for us that the evening should be spent in matters of life and literature, in the nucleus of poetry. Knowing a good thing when we saw it, the Other Bunk found a gem of a book on old ballads. In her rather healthy and bracing voice, the Happy Bunk read far into the night the sad and fateful lives of the sainted nobility. At the last oppressive tale, the Other Bunk and I shared like feelings. We wished with all our hearts, that the Happy Bunk were not quite so happy.

WEDNESDAY — Late and with a hang-dog look, the Other Bunk finished registering for a new semester today. I understood her bouderie, however. I had been through it all once before. Yes, the Other Bunk found herself yoked to eighteen hours of classes, all starting on Saturday at eight o'clock. With a time-honored respect, I made room for her as she made a most admirable exit from her advisor's office.

THURSDAY — I feel food has made me what I am today. I have never been one who believed in self-denial, but I have been frugal with it all. For this reason, I cannot understand why the Bunx will not let me share alone. I am thinking not of myself but of them. I would not want them to be excessive because of me, therefore, it would be better to have but one gormandizer in the room. I intend to sacrifice myself to the whole cake.

FRIDAY — He's new and a bit pigwidgeoned, this new impish ensign with the incendiary blue eyes. Although he admits he is an admirable cad, I hardly think he can be called a bounder. Seraphid and impeccable, I rather imagine I love him as much for his scampish imperfections.

SATURDAY — May I suggest more of these?

SUNDAY — Second-helpings are delightful.

cause of two factors: the OPA regulation limiting the amount of paper of one type which may be used for certain kinds of books—the Colonial Echo will have slightly better paper than the average because the contract was made before the regulation went into effect; and the shortages of film and of photographers.

English Department Head Studies, Travels Widely

(This is the first in a series of articles designed to make the student better acquainted with his professors.)

By CONNIE CONWAY

Tall and lean, broad shouldered and with piercing blue eyes behind horn-rimmed glasses—you have seen him mornings taking his characteristic long strides across campus, briefcase in hand, headed toward the Wren Building. You have seen him, but do you know him?

Jess Hamilton Jackson, head of William and Mary's English department, was born near Birmingham, Alabama, and lived an ordinary boyhood there, frequenting the old swimming hole, playing hookey, and what have you. He graduated from the University of Alabama, with his A.B. and A.M. degrees, and immediately became chairman of the English department of a boys' school in Montgomery in 1905. He remained there until he was married, and then left teaching to become superintendent of a mill—an underwear mill. Not happy with knitting underwear, he returned several years later to teaching as principal of Lakeview Elementary School in Birmingham. When the war came, Dr. Jackson took the Treasury's offer to be a "Minute Man", famed for giving three minute speeches to gatherings of all kinds in the interest of selling Liberty Loan Bonds. In one year, throughout six of the southern states, Dr. Jackson sold one and one-quarter million dollars' worth of bonds.

His inimitable Alabama-Harvard accent belies the fact that, after leaving the Government's service in 1919, Dr. Jackson taught English at Harvard, and there earned another Master's degree, as well as his Ph.D., in 1926. That year the American Scandinavian Commission gave him a fellowship in Denmark doing work in the old sagas and linguistics. After twelve months there, and three in Norway, he came back to this country to teach at the University of Texas, in 1927. He remained there for two years until the American Council of Learned Societies offered him a fellowship to Iceland and the countries of the Scandinavian Peninsula. He studied there, edited sagas, helped compile material for an Icelandic dictionary in Copenhagen, spent a month at the British Museum in London, and returned here to translate novels for the Scandinavian author, Peter Egge, before taking the chair in English at William and Mary in 1929.

As the proverbial "gentleman farmer," Dr. Jackson lives several miles out of town at his Little Neck o'Land Farm. He is rather interested in the growing of fruits, berries, and fowl—and even more interested in eating them. There's nothing better on a hot day than a glass of beer with ice cubes, and chilled sauterne is his favorite drink. Quite naturally, Dr. Jackson likes to read, and he enjoys listening to music and walking in the woods.

Before the war he had always wanted to retire in Finland or Iceland because of the simplicity of life there. Now, however, what he wants most upon retiring is a home—perhaps in New Orleans—"a lot of books, a place by the fire, and somewhere to spit."

271 Men Left In AST Unit

Dean Miller has announced that the total enrollment in the A.S.T.U. this term will be 271. The unit will be minus those who recently graduated, those who transferred to various branches of the Army, and those who did not pass their exams.

It has been necessary to secure the Philomathean room in the Wren Building for the Army's engineering drawing lab. Due to the large majority of boys who have to take engineering drawing in one term, the former lab in the 2nd floor corridor of Wren will not be sufficient. These two labs will be used until the conclusion of the new term, during the last week in May. After that the Philomathean lab will no longer be used.

"Boys" Sing Praise About 1943's Jeep

Army fellows paid a surprise visit to the mass YWCA meeting last Thursday night in Washington 200. Wearing fatigue suits and metal helmets and singing praise and thanks for the jeep bought by William and Mary students in their war bond drive last year, these men made an hilarious showing. They finally left the room rolling along in their "paper" jeep car. This little performance was enacted by Jackie Adams, Jean Beasley, Marion Lott, Jean Swartz, and Helen Maguire—in disguise, and was designed to stimulate interest and enthusiasm for another Jeep Drive which is to be sponsored by the WAMs February 17-19 with the aid of the YWCA.

Barbara Gray gave details and instructions concerning the "Y's" participation in this drive. A huge drawing of a jeep with the name of every student printed on it, will be placed in the cafeteria during meal hours from February 12-14. It is the responsibility of every student to see that his name be blocked off from this jeep by purchasing a defense stamp. If this plan is successful in selling war stamps, it will be possible for the school to buy another jeep this year. Vice-President Mac Kaemmerle presided at this February meeting of the YWCA because of the absence of the President, Marion Ross. Following an opening prayer offered by Pam Pauly, and the singing of the William and Mary Hymn, brief business was taken up. A committee of Gloria Rankin, Mary Daffron, Mimi Bates, Connie Given, and Joan Crawford was appointed to select the best school songs written for song contests during the year and to put them in a scrapbook.

A big and little sister party, also to be sponsored by the "Y", is being planned for the new girls who entered school at the beginning of this semester.

Inquiring Reporter

By SALLIE HOAG

For the past week the main source of conversation at the dining hall has been, "Golly, I don't know whether I'll be able to make it or not, I've eaten more than I had planned" or "How'll I ever use up all these tickets, I'll just have to eat 99 desserts." Yes this new system of having to buy a ten-dollar food book every ten days has caused much talk among the students—some good and some bad. This reporter has asked several people who are affected by this system their views on the subject:

Judy Fisher:

I think it's wonderful cuz now I can have my allowance for myself.

Jean Cline:

Since the cafeteria books are only valid for a limited time, the students will eat three balanced meals a day in order to get the benefit of their money. However, one of the pleasures of eating is eating when and where you want to.

Jean Boyle:

I'd like it better if we could use our books when we wanted to. This way if you're going some place for a weekend you still have to use your books up.

Kay France:

I don't like it. I have to wait too long in line and I can't save any money.

Millie Foster:

I like it. This money comes from Daddy and I don't have to spend any of my own money on food so that I am able to save more.

Frances Rowe:

The students will probably eat more regular meals since they have the cafeteria books. Many of them now eat three meals a day instead of two, and really get all of their vitamins.

Connie Given:

Personally, I think it stinks.

Iturralde Speaks For Spanish Club

The Spanish Club will hold its first meeting of the second semester, Wednesday, February 9, at 8:00 P. M., in Barrett east living room. Dr. Victor Iturralde will give a short talk on a Latin American fiesta. Gloria Gruber and Mimi White are offering their musical talents in social songs and piano numbers. A popular and entertaining book, "I Saw the Philippines Fall", by Colonel Carlos Romulo, of the Philippine Army, will be reviewed by Rhody Miller. We will have our favorite ending of community singing and refreshments.

Freshman Student Presents Concert Of Original Works

Ben Johnston Impresses Audience With Piano Concerto, Other Selections

By LILLIAN KNIGHT

Compositions by the freshman composer Ben Johnston were presented by the composer, Mr. Allan B. Sly, Betty Ware Sly, Alexander Williams, and music students of the College on Sunday, January 30. A large gathering of students and faculty heard the concert sponsored by the Students' Music Club in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium.

Those who were present heard an interesting and varied program.

First were three short pieces: Fugue in D Minor, Scherzo in B Minor, and Rondo in D Major, performed by the composer, Mr. Johnston. These served as appetizers to the more extensive works that followed. Alexander Williams, who has delighted Music Club members previously, and Allan Sly gave an excellent performance of Johnston's Sonata for Clarinet and Strings, arranged for Piano. Two songs followed: "Homeward," sung by Marion Webb, soprano, and "The Voice of Autumn," sung by Betty Rose Marvin, soprano. Mr. Johnston accompanied them on the piano. Mr. Johnston performed two compositions for Violin and Piano: first, Theme and Variations, and then, Ballade in E major. The last work on the program, Concerto in E, was performed by Mr. Johnston and Mr. Sly at the two pianos with the composer taking the solo part. The audience responded well to this work, and Mr. Johnston announced that the only encore he had prepared was a piece without title which he had composed at the piano that very morning, and, appropriately enough, it seemed to have a religious feeling or atmosphere.

Mr. Johnston is to be congratulated for his fine work. He has a gift of spontaneous lyricism, and a youthful exuberance is evident in many of the compositions. He has developed a style of his own that lends a "folky" or English flavor to all his works—the rhythms and tonality both contributing to this effect. The use of fugal passages also marks his style and gives the same impression. One feels that the composer has a good solid foundation to build on. By that I mean that his music has a three-dimensional quality and good development. His modernism is so interwoven into the whole fabric as to be hardly detectable. As his experience widens he may depart from the path he seems to have marked out for himself. In such works as the Sonata for Clarinet and Strings, one feels this reaching out and the introduction of new elements of a more romantic nature. There seems to be more of inner thought and feeling communicated to the listener. The love of nature or the "great outdoors" can be found in the songs. The composer seems quite "at home" in this medium because of his melodic ability, but he also writes well for the piano and small ensembles. Mr. Johnston's ability to work out his ideas in a very compact and well-organized form is proved in the Piano Concerto. The audience was particularly impressed and ready to acclaim Mr. Johnston after hearing this work.

Royalist Desires Material From Students And ASTU

Three Vacancies To Be Filled Soon

Material is now being accepted for the next issue of the Royalist, William and Mary's literary magazine, which will come off the presses sometime in May. The types of contribution desired in particular are fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and illustrations. A.S.T.U. efforts are doubly welcome inasmuch as it was impossible to include any of these in the recent issue. All college and A.S.T.U. students wishing to submit writings are asked to place them in the Royalist box in Marshall-Wythe Hall.

Three members have recently vacated their positions on the staff, and these openings will be filled in the near future. Specifically, the following vacancies have occurred: senior (1), freshman (1), circulation (1). Selection of the new members will be on the basis of contributions, interests, etc.

The deadline for the next issue is March 15. The date of publication is approximately May 15, 1944.

The editors and staff were especially gratified at the interest shown in the last issue, and for the large quantity and variety of material from which they had to choose. They wish to express their appreciation for everyone's fine spirit of cooperation and for the excellent "turnout." It is the sincere hope and purpose of the Royalist staff to present to the students of William and Mary a lasting record of the best literary expression produced on campus.

Marsh Announces Schedule Changed

Mr. B. W. Norton will speak at the first session of the Marshall-Wythe Seminar in Rogers 212 on Thursday, February 10, at 4:30. Mr. Norton, Director of the Williamsburg War Board and Vice-President of the Williamsburg Restoration, will present the topic, "Planning at the Local Level with Emphasis on Williamsburg." Anyone who is interested will be welcome.

Some changes have been made in the schedule as announced in the January 12 issue of the FLAT HAT. Mr. Eric Hodgkins, vice-president of Time, Life, and Fortune magazines, and Dean Grayson Kefauver of the State Department will be unable to come.

Dr. Charles F. Marsh, head of the Marshall-Wythe Seminar, said, "We'll go ahead with the program as planned."

Dr. Marsh suggests certain references for the February 10 and 24 meetings of the Seminar.

Campus Girls Meet Alumni

Mary Prickett Carter, '44, Acting President of the Senior Class, and Mary Wilson Carver, '44, Acting President of the Student Body, were invited to be present at a special meeting on January 29 of the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary.

Besides these ex-officio members the following regular members were present: Walter Finnall Cross Ferguson, '19, (President), New York City; Lizinka Ewell Crawford (Ramsey), '33, (Vice-President), Baltimore, Md.; Vernon Meredith Geddy, '17, (Secretary-Treasurer), Williamsburg, Va.; Wayne Carr Metcalf, '13, Roanoke, Va., and Robert Morton Hughes, Jr., '99, Norfolk, Va.

The meeting was held at 8 P. M. in the Blue Room of the Wren Building.

Chaplains' Class Graduates Feb. 13

Chaplain C. A. Neyman, USN, Officer-in-Charge of the Naval Training School (Chaplains), has moved to Williamsburg; and lives at 361 Powell Avenue.

Chaplain Neyman is all District Chaplain for the Fifth Naval District. Chaplain Roy E. Bishop, USN, will soon be detached from the school to report for sea duty.

Chaplain Bishop's family will remain at 607 Richmond Road while he is at sea.

Chaplain Bishop was speaker at a meeting of the Women's Student Government Cooperative Association on Monday, February 7, at 7 P. M.

Class 28-43 will be graduated on Sunday evening, February 13, at 7 P. M. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The speaker will be Chaplain Raymond F. McNamus, a member of the faculty. Chaplain McNamus will soon report for sea duty also.

In connection with the presentation of "Tartuffe", the Dramatic Club held a meeting on February 2, devoted to talks about Moliere, the Comedie Francaise, and the nature of comedy itself, as well as reports about plays on Broadway which have been directed by Margaret Webster.

The Trading Post

By BOBBIE STEELY

What's brewing in other schools? From a survey of the FLAT HAT exchange files we find the A.S.T.U.s are very active on other campuses in that they, also, write for the school publications, take part in sports, and make the date life of the coed an active one. The Student Governments from everywhere have their war councils but meet with the problem of low attendance at meetings.

Mary Washington College complains of the difficulty in telephoning the girls' dorms. Call girl duty is as sadly neglected as is the time limit. Does that sound familiar?

Becker Aids War Prisoners

At Becker Junior College in Massachusetts the students and faculty are promoting a drive to send recreational equipment to the Barbed Wire Legion—prisoners of war. They call for old tennis rackets, skates, ball bats, banjos, harmonicas, and accordians. These are all sent to the War Prisoners' Aid Division of the Y.M.C.A.

"Battle of Music"

St. Bonaventure, in New York, schedules something new in a combined prom and square dance. The A.S.T.U. and college orchestra take turns hourly in providing a so-called "battle of music".

Clarke University in Massachusetts offers a large box in their main building for contributions to the paper drive from any student, soldier-student, or member of the faculty.

Maryland Chooses Beauty Queen

The University of Maryland has recently chosen the queen of all their campus pledges for the year 1943-44. The choice is made by the men students but the final decision is made by a board of representative judges who are "gourmets of beauty."

Any one of the above activities from other campuses might prove successful here at William and Mary. Any interested student could start an idea and hope his fellow students would support him. Ideas such as having steam heat in the Sunken Gardens might not be received too well; but good schemes for the betterment of this school are always welcome.

Kappa Delta announces with pleasure the initiation of Elizabeth Spicer, Buffalo, New York; Kathryn Settle, Roanoke, Virginia; Jane McDowell, Harrisonburg, Virginia; Ruth Paul, York, Pennsylvania; Marjorie Bowman, Richmond, Virginia; Ann Smith, Norfolk, Virginia; and Jean Cline, Lynchburg, Virginia, on February 11. The KD's also announce the pledging of Helen Staples on Wednesday, February 2. The national inspector of Kappa Delta, Miss Donnellia Thompson, is expected on February 12.

The Alpha Chi's have elected two new officers to fill vacancies left by seniors who graduated in January: vice president, Martha Eddy and treasurer, Betty Evans.

Gloria Brush, '44, Delta Delta Delta, and Marilyn Miller, '44, Alpha Chi Omega, January graduates, left Williamsburg on Sunday, January 30, for Miami Beach, Florida, where they will spend two weeks.

Delta Delta Delta will have a reception for their pledges on Sunday, February 13, from 3:30 to 5:30. The chapter elected the following new officers for 1944: President, Eleanor Harvey; vice-president, Dorie Wi-prud; recording secretary, June Neff; treasurer, Jacy Borman; and rush chairman, Virginia Darst. Saturday, February 5, the Tri Delt pledges spent the night at the house while the actives stayed in the dormitories. Margaret Ramsey, Tri Delt from Bre-nau, visited the Tri Delt on Satur-

Resuming rehearsals on Tuesday and Friday nights at 8 o'clock in Washington 200, the new William and Mary Chorus will begin its second semester on campus. Having accomplished one successful concert, the chorus will present its second on April 16, for which a varied program has been planned.

"Good Wives of Pioneers," an original composition by Mr. Allan Sly, has just been published under the auspices of The Friends of the College and will be sung by the chorus. Two choruses from Handel's "Messiah" and an Early American Group will also be presented.

Those participating in the chorus will be students of the College, Chaplains and Specialists from the Naval Training School for Chaplains, and Cadets of the A.S.T.U. Other experienced singers stationed at nearby military posts will be invited to join in the rehearsals.

Pi Beta Phi elected the following new officers for 1944: President, Cornelia Westerman; vice-president, Louise Thomas; treasurer, Sunny Manewal; recording secretary, Edythe Marsh; and pledge supervisor, Joan Parker.

Mrs. E. H. Polack, Province President of Kappa Kappa Gamma, visited the Kappas from January 31 to February 4.

The entire Chi Omega chapter rolled bandages on Tuesday evening, February 1, Saturday afternoon, February 5, the actives challenged the pledges to a race to see who could knit an afghan faster for the Red Cross. Marian Lang has been appointed editor of the Colonial Chi-O, the Chi Omega newspaper. Ann Burton, Chi Omega graduate of January, 1944, is a junior mathematician at Langley Field.

Gamma Phi Beta announces with pleasure the pledging of Jean Ferebee, Norfolk, Virginia, and Betty Bradley, Norfolk, Virginia, on Monday, February 7.

Shirley Helmick, Phi Mu from Duke, visited the Phi Mu house from Saturday, January 29, to February 2. Shirley is a senior at Duke and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board.

Kappa Alpha Theta had an Activities Party at the Lodge on January 27.

Tank Contest Shows Little Competition

Wigwams Win; Goldbricks Second

Swimming intramurals have been completed and it looks as though the competition was not very keen, for only three teams scored points. The Wigwams splashed into first place with a total of 41 points, the Goldbricks second with 17 points and the Indians third with 3 points.

Had the competition been on a more even keel the amount of points scored by each team would be more evenly spread. However, it seems that the only contestants present at the meets were those who had some swimming experience on the outside and so were eager to use their skill and ability. Bud Weintraub was the only civilian to enter into the competition.

The winners of the events were:
40-yard Freestyle, Cannon, 21.3;
100-yard Freestyle, Cannon, 1:06;
120-yard Medley, Wigwams, 1:18.5;
40-yard Backstroke, Smith, 27.5;
40-yard Breaststroke, May, 29.2;
Diving, Smith.

Intramurals To Be Resumed Soon; A.S.T.P. Returns

Boxing, Wrestling Scheduled For Feb.

Intramurals will again take the spotlight as soon as the A.S.T.P. boys arrive back from their furlough. Swimming has already been completed, and the second round of basketball will continue in about a week.

The first round of basketball terminated a few weeks ago. The Yankees took top honors with the Goldbricks closely following. The second round has about ten more games before completion. Winners of each round will play for the championship.

Wrestling and boxing are scheduled to start at the end of February or at the beginning of March. Further announcement will be made as to when applications for the matches should be handed in.

The spring holds some promise for a good season. Track, softball and tennis will hold the attention for all able bodies and it seems that a large turnout will be made if no varsity baseball team is formed.

Congratulations should be given Coach Umbach, who has been heading the intramural events. It was quite an undertaking he assumed, but all the students know that he has been successfully handling the task.

Dance Club Plans Spring Recital

The Dance Club, which is composed of Orchestis and the Dance Group, have been practicing for their spring recital. In addition to their two regular meetings a week, a combined meeting is being held every Wednesday.

The members of Orchestis have attended several modern dancing classes this past week to select new members. As yet, the final list is not complete; but it is probable that about six dancers will be invited to join the Dance Group.

Indians Lead State Title Race

William and Mary's cage team climbed to new heights in the State basketball race by taking a firm lead in the first place position during the past two weeks.

Last Saturday, Coach McCray's green-clad charges routed Hampden-Sydney to keep their State Collegiate slate clean and move into first place in the Old Dominion with a 2-0 record. In second place is the University of Richmond with a 3-1 record, their only defeat being suffered at the hands of the Tribe. Following the leaders are Virginia, Virginia Tech, Emory and Henry, Hampden-Sydney, and Virginia Military Institute.

Three Indians In First Six Scorers

In the individual state scoring race, three Indians are firmly camped among the first six leaders—the three being Captain Ed Holle, Willis Dixon and Bill Kirk. Holle in third place, is 37 points behind the pace-setter, Virginia's ace forward, Keith Harder, and 22 points behind Bill Cantwell of Hampden-Sydney's Tigers who was held to only 4 points in the Tiger-Indian contest a week ago by Holle and Joe Och. Following Holle, who has 145 points, are Dixon of the Braves with 133, Pickett of Virginia 124, and Kirk with 118 points.

In the Southern Conference the Indians are tied for the first place seat with Maryland's "Old Liners". Both teams have won one game and lost none. The Tribe and Maryland owe their first place position to Duke's Blue Devils who upset North Carolina's famed White Phantoms last week by one point.

No statistics on Southern Conference individual scoring are available, but Holle's 27 points against Richmond gives him the top average per game in the league.

Courtmen May Make 3-Game Western Trip

A pending 3-day trip into Western Virginia for games with V.P.I., Woodrow Wilson Hospital, and Hampden-Sydney are on next week's docket for William and Mary.

These three games will depend on Tech's decision about their February 19 game here. If the V.P.I. Athletic Department cancels this game in the near future, then the western trip is out. Next week the Tribe will also play Fork Union Military Academy here on the 9th, the day before leaving on the western trek. On returning, the Indians face Camp Patrick Henry in a return contest there, and home games with Cheatham Annex, and V.P.I. On February 21 the Braves will try to avenge their two-point defeat at the hands of the Richmond Air Base, when they take on the Flyers in the State capital. The schedule closes out with two games at home with Camp Peary, one away with Peary and a game in Newport News with the Apprentice School.

A game at home with Richmond is being sought, and if V.P.I. cancels its February 19th game, the Spiders in all probability will fill the Gobblers' place. If not, the game may be played at another date.

Games which will play a vital role in the State Title race are the two with V.P.I., one with Richmond and one with Hampden-Sydney. Remaining Southern Conference games are with V.P.I. and Richmond.

In the box, next column on this page, is the rest of the cage schedule as it now stands, but because of wartime conditions, it is liable to be changed at any time by the Athletic Department.

Alumni Plan Memorial For Tucker Jones

The fund for the Tucker Jones Memorial is growing in size as alumni of the physical education department have rallied to the cause.

Miss Martha Barksdale, associate professor of the physical education department, is chairman of the committee whose purpose is to raise funds for a fitting memorial to the beloved member of the William and Mary faculty who passed away in December of 1942.

At Christmas time this year Miss Barksdale sent a mimeographed letter to many of the alumni suggesting the memorial and response has been good. Already she has received contributions totaling $113.

The replies to Miss Barksdale's letter have been heartening for each alumnus has expressed his deep appreciation of the influence and guidance which Mr. Jones gave his students. The sterling quality of the man makes a memorial to him fitting and it is hoped that it will be an incentive to the students to strive for excellence in their studies and in their sports.

Tri-Color Wins In Last Quarter

A fighting band of William and Mary Reserves came from behind in the last few seconds to whip the Cheatham Annex Marines 53-47 on the Blow Gym court here Saturday night.

Seventeen-year-old Austin Wright topped Indian point getters, with 16 counters while White at center added 14 more, and McClellan 11. Hynes of the "Leathernecks" led his team and was high for the night with 23 points.

The Marines grabbed an early lead which they held through the first three quarters and when baskets by Hynes and Wadleigh increased their lead to 10 points with little more than five minutes to go in the game it looked like it was all over. Quick baskets by Wright, White and then two more by Wright whittled the Cheatham lead to but four points. The service team countered on a basket by Cotton but when Swindell made a neat shot from the right side and McClellan and White followed with Snowbirds the Marines saw their lead dwindle into a tie score. With 40 seconds to go White put the Tribe ahead on a free throw and McClellan made two criss on fast breaks for the victory.

Girls' Swim Meet Planned For March 9th

Telegraphic Event Slated For March

Two swimming meets are scheduled for March. The first is the intramural meet on March 9. Sororities and dormitories will select representatives to participate in the various races and events. There will be free style, back stroke, diving and other events. There will be two nights of practice beforehand in Blow gymnasium pool, where the meet will be held.

The second meet scheduled for March will be the National Inter-Collegiate Telegraphic Meet. Girls will be selected to represent the College. The scores and times for each event will be telegraphed to the main office to be compared with the scores of other colleges throughout the country. Then each college participating will be given a rating in its respective conference. William and Mary is classed in the Southern Conference.

This year's sixteenth annual meet is being sponsored by Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee. William and Mary has not participated in this tournament for the past two years. In March 1941, the Tri-color

Leagues Formed For Intramurals

Women's basketball intramurals begin February 22 and continue through March 11. During this time two leagues of sorority teams and one league of dormitory teams will play.

The sororities have been made into two leagues as has been done in preceding years. The first and second place teams of each league will play and then will be rated from first to fourth place. The first league is composed of Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Delta, Chi Omega and Kappa Alpha Theta. The second league is made up of Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Mu, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma. The dormitories participating are Chandler, Barrett, and Jefferson.

Many girls have come out for basketball and the enthusiasm of the teams is rising. Most of the teams are practicing and lively competition is promised.

Points will be given to the members of the winning teams and to the residence halls for percentage of participation. These points will be counted toward the total in competition for the intramural cup.

Comes the transition period—as it always does following exams—and along with it this column changes “scribs”. We will do our best to continue the thorough coverage of the current sports for you gals.

Now let's see what the co-eds are doing in sports on the campus.

The Intramural Bridge Tournament got under way Wednesday, February 2, and will continue through this week. The duplicate system is played using boards. These tournaments afford a gay get-together for all the bridge fiends, too.

All you “Water Babies” will come into your own on March 1, at the Intramural Swimming meet in Blow Gym. There will be compulsory practices for every participant on February 17 and March 2.

On March 9, a Telegraphic Swimming Meet will take place. This meet is sponsored by the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Association. Colleges all over the country will participate in this event. The times for each race will be telegraphed in to a central office where they will be judged with the other records.

Basketball has been one of the most popular physical education courses this semester. This should be some indication that the intramural basketball season will be most exciting. The sorority teams will be divided into two leagues, while the dorms will comprise another league. These games will begin February 22 and continue through March 11.

The Dance Club has started practice for their spring recital which will be held the first week in May. In addition to the regular meetings, a compulsory practice will be held every Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 for all Dance Club and Orchestras members.

Miss Jackman announced today that Red Cross Water Safety Instructors who wish to review and Life Savers who are interested in taking the Water Safety Instructors' Training Course should meet in Jefferson gym office at 8:15 P. M. Wednesday, February 9, to see Miss Jackman.

Dr. Hoke was connected with the Richmond Schools as assistant Superintendent from 1907 until 1916 when he became Superintendent of the Public Schools in Duluth, Minnesota. It was there he developed a program of instruction of supervision, which was adopted by schools throughout the nation and was instrumental in obtaining the appropriations which doubled the salaries of teachers.

It was through his influence and work that William and Mary was chosen as one of five liberal art colleges to be selected by the Commission on Teacher Education of the American Council on Education for a study of the education of teachers, and, for a number of years, he was Chairman of the Commission on Curricular Problems and Research of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Dr. Hoke was a member of the State Prison Board and it was during this time that he inaugurated and intensified the instruction of inmates of the State Penitentiary. He was also a member of the Advisory Committee on the Survey of Virginia Schools by the State Chamber of Commerce.

In Williamsburg, he was instrumental in obtaining grants from the General Education Board and the State to add to contributions from the community and college for the building of the Matthew Whaley School. For a number of years he was active on the Vestry of Bruton Parish Church.

Dr. Hoke was noted in his efforts to obtain a closer relationship between college and secondary schools, and it was mainly through his efforts that a grant of $300,000 was obtained from the General Board of Education for the development of a program by the Southern Association to make education a part of everyday life of the community.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa, Dr. Hoke also held membership in the National Society of College Teachers, National Education Research Association, National Education Association, Virginia State Teachers Association, and the Society of Friends of Lafayette.

A promoter of education and a friend of youth, Dr. Hoke was a close friend of Father Flanagan of the nationally known Boys Town. His correspondence with him was frequent

Sammy Banks Leaves For Air Corps March 1

Sammy Banks, Assistant Sports Editor of the FLAT HAT, will leave for the Army Air Corps on March 1.

A member of the class of '46, he has been active on campus as a member of the Freshman Tribunal, the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and the staff of the FLAT HAT. He has been active also in intramural sports this year and last year was a member of the freshman track team.

Sammy, whose sideburns have become campus legend, is an actor of some repute. He had roles in two of the Players productions last year. He is a member of the Dramatic Club, the Backdrop Club, and the Scarab Club.

Although he is not certain, it is probable that he will report to Greensboro, N. C. Bill Geiger will take over Sammy's job on the FLAT HAT.

Despite the rain, an unexpectedly large audience attended the regular Sunday afternoon concert sponsored by the Students' Music Club, February 6, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The program included Schubert's Sonatina in G Minor for Violin and Piano (op. 137) played by Betty Ware Sly and Miss Eleanor Adams and the Rachmaninoff 'Cello Sonata (op. 19) played by Ensign Vandersall, USNR, and Mr. Allan B. Sly.

Dr. James Wilkinson Miller, head of the Philosophy Department, will address the next meeting of the Philosophy Club to be held Thursday, February 10, at 8 P. M. in the west living room of Barrett Hall.

A new election was held at the last meeting to take care of the vacancy left by the resignation of President Ben Johnston, who has left the campus to enter the armed forces. Present officers are: Jean Peters, president; Bill Saunders, vice-president; Elizabeth Bernhard, secretary; and Anne Batchelder, treasurer. Helen Fisher and Bill Saunders were placed in charge of refreshments and publicity. Miss Blanche Schneider is the faculty advisor.

Wams Work Extra Hours With New Activities Added

War Work Includes
Saving Used Stamps

Debate Team Has 2nd Clash

With the new term comes a new arrangement in WAM war work. WAMs are to complete 15 hours of war work between February 1 and April 1. This is more than the usual 5 hours per month, but with new activities being added, there is work for everyone. The War Council hopes that the WAMs will do more than their required five hours per month. Pins will be awarded in April for those who have met the requirement of 15 hours for the two months. A more detailed description of the new plan will be presented in the next issue.

No doubt everyone has seen that spectacular reconstruction job over in the Wigwam! It's the newly decorated stamp booth—manual labor and are is by courtesy of Phi Delta Pi. Stamps will be sold there from 5 to 7 on weekdays. From February 11 to 19, they will be sold from 11:00 to 1:00 in addition to the regular time.

A new feature has been added to the Salvage Drive. WAMs are now collecting used postage stamps. There will be a box in every dormitory and sorority house for their collection. The government reports that Uncle Sam is a little short on the dyes used in making the standard type of stamp. It urges everyone to save these stamps, as they are needed badly.

Thanks to the Kappa Tau fraternity, there is now a central spot (near the Wigwam) to put all tin collections. This salvage will be collected and disposed of by the city each week. Magazines and books are still needed. Textbooks go to Mortar Board and fiction is taken to the USO.

Men of the University of Virginia Debating Team were the guests of William and Mary on Friday, February 4, at which time they opposed the Women's Debate Council. The question discussed was the National Collegiate Topic, "Resolved: The United States should co-operate in establishing and maintaining an International Police Force upon the defeat of the Axis."

Representing the Affirmative team were Aaron Marcus and Livingston Fairbanks of the University of Virginia. They contended that a police force should be established, backed by a democratic world body to maintain justice and equal rights. The Police Force would be the instrument by which the aggressions and misdemeanors of the world would be held in check, and would operate, under force and justice.

The negative team, comprised of Anna Belle Koenig and Ginny McGavack, opposed the proposition and held that a system of force should not be used to maintain and keep world peace. They advocated an International Commission composed of experts to solve the economic problems at the conclusion of this war.

After each side had given two ten-minute constructive arguments, they each gave two five-minute rebuttal speeches. Livingston Fairbanks and a third speaker from the University, Charles Russell, gave the affirmative rebuttals. The same negative team gave their refutation.

30 Years Ago In the Flat Hat

By CONNIE CONWAY

Mysterious black-cowled figures had been wandering around campus, and an effigy had been hung at the gate, amusing the student body in general. It's the same principle now, only a little changed; we have S.P.'s wandering around campus, and sailors hanging at the gate. Not much difference, and so much more fun, (they tell us).

We beat Fredericksburg 50 to 5 in basketball, and the temperature had gone down to about eight above. Them was the good old days, or good cold days, or something.

A certain trio of fellows, (no names given), were asked to please refrain from buying up all the Huyler's Candy as soon as it came into the drugstore, and to pass the word along when a shipment did come in. (Say, are there any Hershey's at Pender's today? No? Well, where'd you get that one sticking out of your pocket?)

The Editors being from Kentucky and Virginia were naturally a little prejudiced, but they devoted much of the Editorial page to the merits and defense of good old Kaintucky and Vuhginia, (suh), accents, and concluded with, "Moreover, it is a belief of ours (unfortunately, perhaps), that good, clean, clear-cut, strong profanity in the proper setting is not to be despised." Profanity at William and Mary? Oh stop kidding now.

The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association of America held a meeting here aiming to organize a chapter among the students. Laugh here on the dotted line.

Marked Decrease In Enrollment

From figures up to December 4, the total enrollment this semester has shown a decrease from that of last semester of seventy-four students. Last semester there were 237 men and 668 women compared to 203 men and 628 women this semester.

During the second semester, men will room in Taliaferro Hall, Old Infirmary, third floor of Monroe Hall, Tyler Annex, and the Restoration Dormitory. These dormitories are practically filled to capacity; in fact, if all the rooms were limited to two men, they would be full.

Brown Hall will not be used by the A.S.T.U. after the middle of this week. It is being used as a dormitory for service wives to relieve the apparent housing shortage in Williamsburg.

Reporter Reveals Great Progress In Sororities

Extensive War Activities, Social Work,
Intramural Program Among Activities

In twelve years, from 1921 to 1933, the women students of the College of William and Mary built up nine sororities, all of national reputation. In spite of the many attacks on the sorority idea, these organizations have thrived and grown to become permanent fixtures of the college campus and are inherently associated with the word "college". They are called social fraternities because their aim is fundamentally social: to promote scholarship, wider interests, social good, and to give individual girls a sense of confidence and to develop their abilities with group backing. When the war came to the United States, the women student body took upon themselves the job of aiding the war effort; and the sororities have supported this war effort with the strength of group interest.

In 1921, Omicron Beta chapter of Chi Omega was established. As the membership stands today there are 40 active members and 29 pledges. Muriel Koch is president and their housemother is Mrs. Lambeth from Bedford, Virginia. Beta Lambda chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta was established in 1922, and their membership consists of 33 actives and 17 pledges. The president is Maureen Gothlin, and their housemother is Mrs. Stringfellow from Wakefield, Virginia. Gamma Kappa chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded in 1923, and there are now 31 actives and 19 pledges. Katie Rutherford holds the presidency, and their housemother is Mrs. Graham from Clarksburg, West Virginia. The Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Beta Phi was established in 1925. There are 21 actives and 24 pledges. Cornelia Westerman has just been elected president, and their housemother is Mrs. Carter from Petersburg. The Gamma Alpha chapter of Phi Mu was founded in 1926, and there are 21 actives and eight pledges. Betty Neiderlander is president and Mrs. Fleetwood from Waverly, Virginia, is their housemother. Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Chi Omega was founded in 1927, and their present membership holds 25 actives and 15 pledges. Barbara Gray is president and Mrs. Pulley from Wakefield is their housemother. Alpha Pi chapter of Kappa Delta was established in 1928, and there are now 27 actives and eight pledges. Florence Pettigrew is president and their housemother is Mrs. Shackelford from Warsaw. Alpha Mu chapter of Delta Delta Delta was established in 1928, also, and now has 29 active members and 26 pledges. Eleanor Harvey is president and Mrs. Fletcher Barnes from Richmond is housemother. Alpha Chi chapter of Gamma Phi Beta was established in 1933, and there are now 26 actives and 25 pledges. Virginia Southworth holds the presidency; and Mrs. Daniel, of Richmond, is their housemother.

In cooperation with the War Council on campus all the sororities have urged their members to become WAMs. Besides their individual hours of war work, several of the sororities, including the Pi Phi's, the Tri Deltas, the Chi O's, the K.D.'s and

LIBRARY RECEIVES GIFT

The College received a grant of $17,000 from the General Education Board for the acquisition of books for the library. This grant will be matched by the College. Thus a total of more than $30,000 will be spent over the next five years and should make the library of the College one of the most outstanding of its kind in the United States.

the Thetas, have instituted a plan whereby the whole sorority goes as a group to roll bandages and make surgical dressings at the Red Cross. The Kappas, the Phi Mus, and the Gamma Phi's have regular check-in charts, which might also be labeled check-up charts, so that every girl may keep track of the number of war work hours she maintains each month. The Alpha Chi's have been buying War Bonds, and it is interesting to note that Mrs. Pulley, their housemother, is also in charge of the Red Cross production here. The Tri Deltas are busy right now knitting an afghan, and the Chi O actives have challenged their pledges to a race to see who can finish production on two afghans first. The Alpha Chi's and the Gamma Phi's are also contributing to the War Relief Association.

Besides intramural athletic competition between the sororities, scholarship requirements and rewards within the sororities, and social work, there is another angle that adds to the picture. This is the pooling of individual opinion to broaden individual viewpoints on the problems that concern and touch on individual and group life. Pledge-active meetings are being held and planned to discuss these problems and promote their public airing by many of the sororities, including Kappa, Pi Phi, Tri Delta, Theta, Phi Mu, and Gamma Phi.

Singing has never failed to bring people together and informal get-togethers for the benefit—or otherwise—of the vocal chords have long been a practice among the sororities. To sum it all up, in spite of adverse propaganda, it seems quite evident that sorority girls do something besides pay dues and attend Monday night meetings. Organizing into groups and "belonging" is just an old American custom.

Yet, in the midst of these changes, the FLAT HAT editorial policy stands firm. The last issue carried two editorials apologizing and making excuses for the administration. This must be rather embarrassing to an administration which doesn't seem to want to be whitewashed and does seem to want to satisfy the students' reasonable requests. Student government has made progress in spite of the vacuum it works in. With an almost complete lack of coverage by the paper, the Assembly has still tried to keep in touch with student ideas and demands. Perhaps the FLAT HAT editorial directors will also feel the revival of interest that has moved the Assembly, the students, and the administration. Let us hope so.
